

Understanding the World

A force is a push or pull on an object.

Push

A force to move something away.

Pull

A force to move something towards you.

Friction—two forces working against each other

States of Matter

Changing State

